NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Students in National Honor Society must have a 3.5 grade average or higher. They must also be leaders, have good character and do services for others. The members sponsor half of the dances, sell concessions at all sports, help at the Open House in October, sponsor secret teachers and hold a picnic for the staff in May.

NHS uses the money from concessions and dances to buy equipment for the school. This year they bought new microphones for assemblies and programs.

I can't reach it

You may not know, but I have my eye on you.

Let me help!

Where's that dress I bought?

STUDENT COUNCIL

During the 1997-98 school year, student council sponsored three dances, Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, a pay phone installed by the cafeteria-gym, two spirit weeks, a dance contest, slave day, and two fund raisers. They painted new paw prints in the main building hall, attended the state convention and the SADD convention, sold and delivered love grams, and painted faces to boost school spirit.

ANNUAL

This year's annual staff worked diligently and creatively on our annual. They planned many creative ways to arrange the pictures. They came up with detailed captions, and tediously pasted the pictures to pages. Many of the staff spent their own time working on mug shots, laboring vigorously on collages, and spent tiresome hours meeting deadlines. They were a very dedicated group of individuals, one of the most spectacular team of workers in the school. We should give the team behind this extraordinary annual a round of applause.

From Us to You

We wish we didn't have to leave
We'll miss you guys so much.
We weren't even here for very long.
Next year will be such
A change, so strange
We hate to leave
Because we won't be with you.
But ,hey, you get to be us next year.
We hope you all have fun.

Going for a pin.

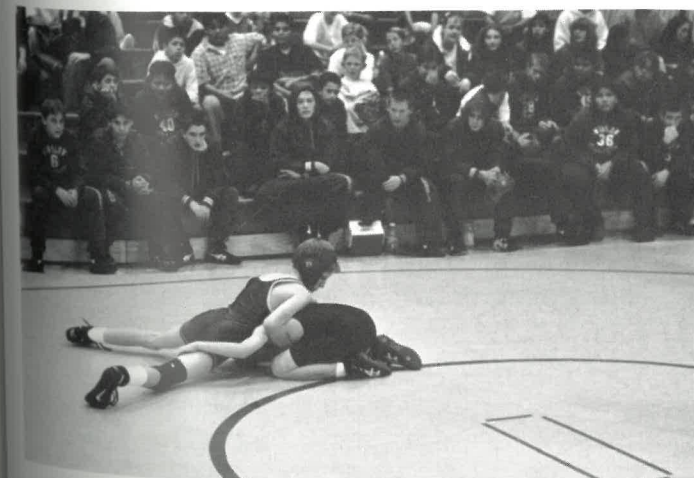

Come on. Roll over!

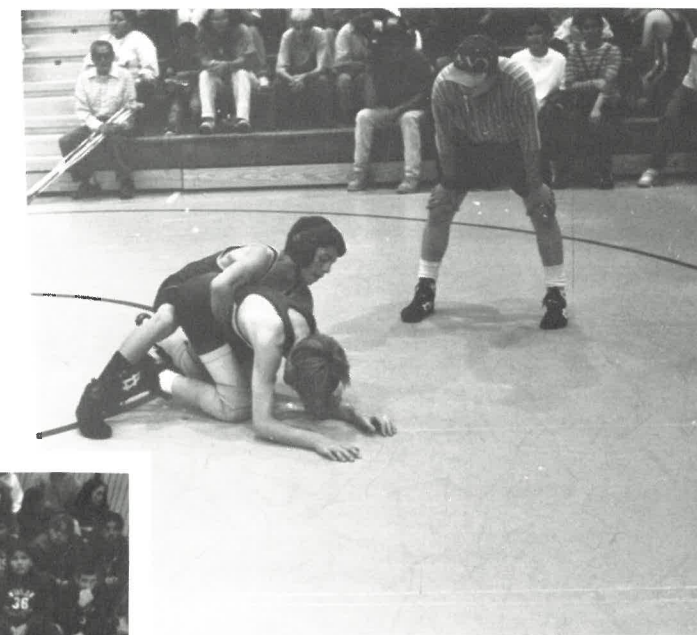

Wrestling is open to both 7th and 8th graders. Mr. Mac said that all the wrestlers were strong athletes. Their record was 3 wins and 3 losses. The three teams that they beat were Joe City, Heber, and powerful Holbrook. At a tournament in Joe City, Steven Bengson and William Beamon took 4ths, Steven Martinez 3rd, Stephen Hancock 2nd, and the champions were Tim Lewis, Dustin Taylor and Seth Tanner. Dustin Taylor tied for Outstanding Wrestler with a Snowflake wrestler.

Time's running out!

Way to go, Steven!

Wrestlers can't give up.

8TH GRADE VOLLEYBALL

Jackie to the rescue!

I got the power!

Bump, set, spike!

'Can't get it past me!

MVP Jackie Foster

The 8th grade girls had a great year in volleyball. They had a 3-6 record. Great job, volleyball players! Winslow beat White River, Rim Country (Payson), and Holbrook except at the tournament.

Help! Help!

Keep a look out ladies!

This Year's Dedicatee is... Sam!!

Mr. Sam Loera is a great influence on students, and likes to say, "If you don't get an education, you'll be a sweeper like me."

He worked as a custodian at Jefferson School for 11 years, and as maintenance worker for the past 10 years at WJHS. His wife says, "He's never taken a day off work, and there's never been a day he's dreaded going to work."

Mr. Loera was born May 11, 1943. He was born in New Mexico and was raised in San Bernadino, California. He has two brothers and one sister. He and his wife have been married 28 years and have seven children and eight grandchildren. He belongs to the Church of Christ. He attended San Bernadino High School, but during his junior year, he dropped out of school. Then he was drafted into the Army and served in the Vietnam War. Living in Winslow for 25 years, he's loved every minute of it.

His hobbies are tinkering and watching the news and football. "When he's not working, he's lost in another world," says Mrs. Loera. His favorite foods include tacos, rice, and menudo. He loves to tease and joke, especially when he sees someone down and sad.

Moonlight

Somewhere out beyond this place,
This city of dying hopes and forgotten dreams,
I'll see him, the only man I'll ever love.
He'll come to me at night, when I'm fast asleep.
Patch of midnight for hair, starlight in his eyes.
Through my window he'll climb, to save me from here.
He'll smile his debonair smile, and I'll melt into his arms.
By the light of the silver moon we'll meet,
For the first and last time,
Beyond this city of filth and hate,
When we'll never say goodbye,
When we'll never say hello.
By the pale moonlight,
We'll never leave each other's side.
Nevermore to be alone,
Nevermore to weep and cry.
My sorrow will die,
Somewhere beyond this city,
Somewhere in the pale moonlight.

My Only Love

Deep in my heart,
Truth shines on,
Love's so strong,
It takes control
There will come a day,
Somewhere far away,
In your arms I'll stay,
My Only Love.
Your love is the start,
Of a secret in my heart,
Though we're far apart,
I'll make a wish on a shooting star.
There will come a day,
Somewhere far away,
In your arms I'll stay,
My Only Love.

Maybe

Maybe if I let you go,
You'll come back to me.
Maybe if I had been prettier,
You would have loved me.
Maybe you really do,
But can't say what you feel.
Maybe you need me,
But are too proud to say it.
Maybe I'm dreaming,
Maybe it wasn't true.
Maybe I am a fool for trying,
Trying to make you love me.
Maybe I was wrong for you.
Maybe you'll come back.
Maybe I'll get over you someday,
But Maybe,
Won't heal my heart.

My Forest

The forest is quiet and peaceful,
As though time has stopped still.
The birds that fly high in the sky,
Look like sea vessels lost at sea.
The animals sing in harmony,
Like a church choir.
The trees shoot high in the sky,
Like skyscrapers in a crowded city.
The sun rays shoot through the branches.
Like a laser tag war game.
The horizon in the distance,
Looks like a water color painting.
All this and the feeling of freedom,
Come to show you,
That the forest is a place,
Where harmony and peace collide together,
To live with mother nature and all her possessions.

Broken Promises

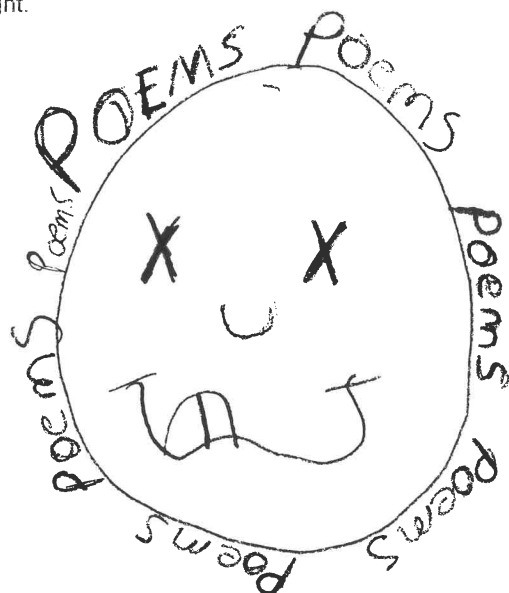

I know we vowed not to break each others' hearts,
But when you left me in the dark,
That just tore me apart,
And that left a painful mark.
A mark of guilt, sadness, and anger.
What am I supposed to do without you?
My whole world is falling apart because you left me.
It was so painful to let you go,
But I was so cold and low.
The pain in my heart is greater than you can ever know.
Like an arrow that rips through your heart,
It tears all apart.
We made a lot of promises, but all they are now all
Broken Promises.

Father

My father is a person who believes in what I am.
He might not really show it but I know
he knows I can.
My father is a person
who makes me
strive for what I want.
He makes me understand
without a word
of taunt.
My father works his hardest so I can be number one.
He wants our names
in lights someday
to glisten like the sun.
So my father is a person who makes my life real fun.

My hopes for yesteryear.

As I see the crack of dawn,
I imagine in my mind,
And try to look and find-
to find myself,

Maybe someday I will find something.

Where Can I Go?

At night when silence beats me,
When all I can do is cry.
I try to run to some sanctuary,
Still how I wish that I could fly.
Part of me cannot stay here,
Part of me is pleasantly numb,
Still yet another part is dying.
What can a creature like me become?
Where can I go?
I am all alone in this cruel place.
There are no loving smiles,
Not a solitary friendly face.
Ever since you left me,
I just haven't been the same.
It's not your fault,
I'm the one to blame.
Please help me find the answer,
Please tell me if you know.
Since you left me,
Where can I go?

Mom

Mom, I always did what you said,
But because of someone who I dearly loved,
Who chose to drink and drive,
I am the one who'll pay.
Mom, please don't cry,
You were the one who was,
Always there for me,
When I needed you.
I wish I could return,
The same to you.
My breath is getting shorter,
So remember you were right.
If you want to live,
Stand up for what you believe,
Be a leader not a follower,
And live for yourself,
Not someone else, Mom.
I have you and I will,
Always be with you,
Everywhere you go,
I love you.

You are the strength of my heart,
You are the center of my soul,
You make me happy when I'm sad,
You are my world,
You are all I want in this world.
Without you I am nothing.

Life

A pointless,
Endless,
Merry-go-round of hate.
An endless unkindness,
A clash of men,
The sadness,
Anger,
Toward each other.
The bitter resentment
Of our character.
Loneliness.
Want of compassion.

Seasonal Love

Winter fire in your hair,
Icy cinders blown about,
My heart burns there too.
Summer water in your eyes,
Pools of contented sorrow,
My heart drowns there too.
Spring song in your voice,
Sweet, sad melody within,
My heart sings there too.
Autumn earth in your skin,
Soft, warm sand to touch,
My heart stays there too.
Crimson blood in your veins,
Still, the blood flows from you,
My heart bleeds there too.
Quiet sanctuary in your mind,
Silent, serene into it you flee,
My heart hides there too.
Seasons are ever-changing,
But you remain forever the same,
My heart is steadfast too.

Beach

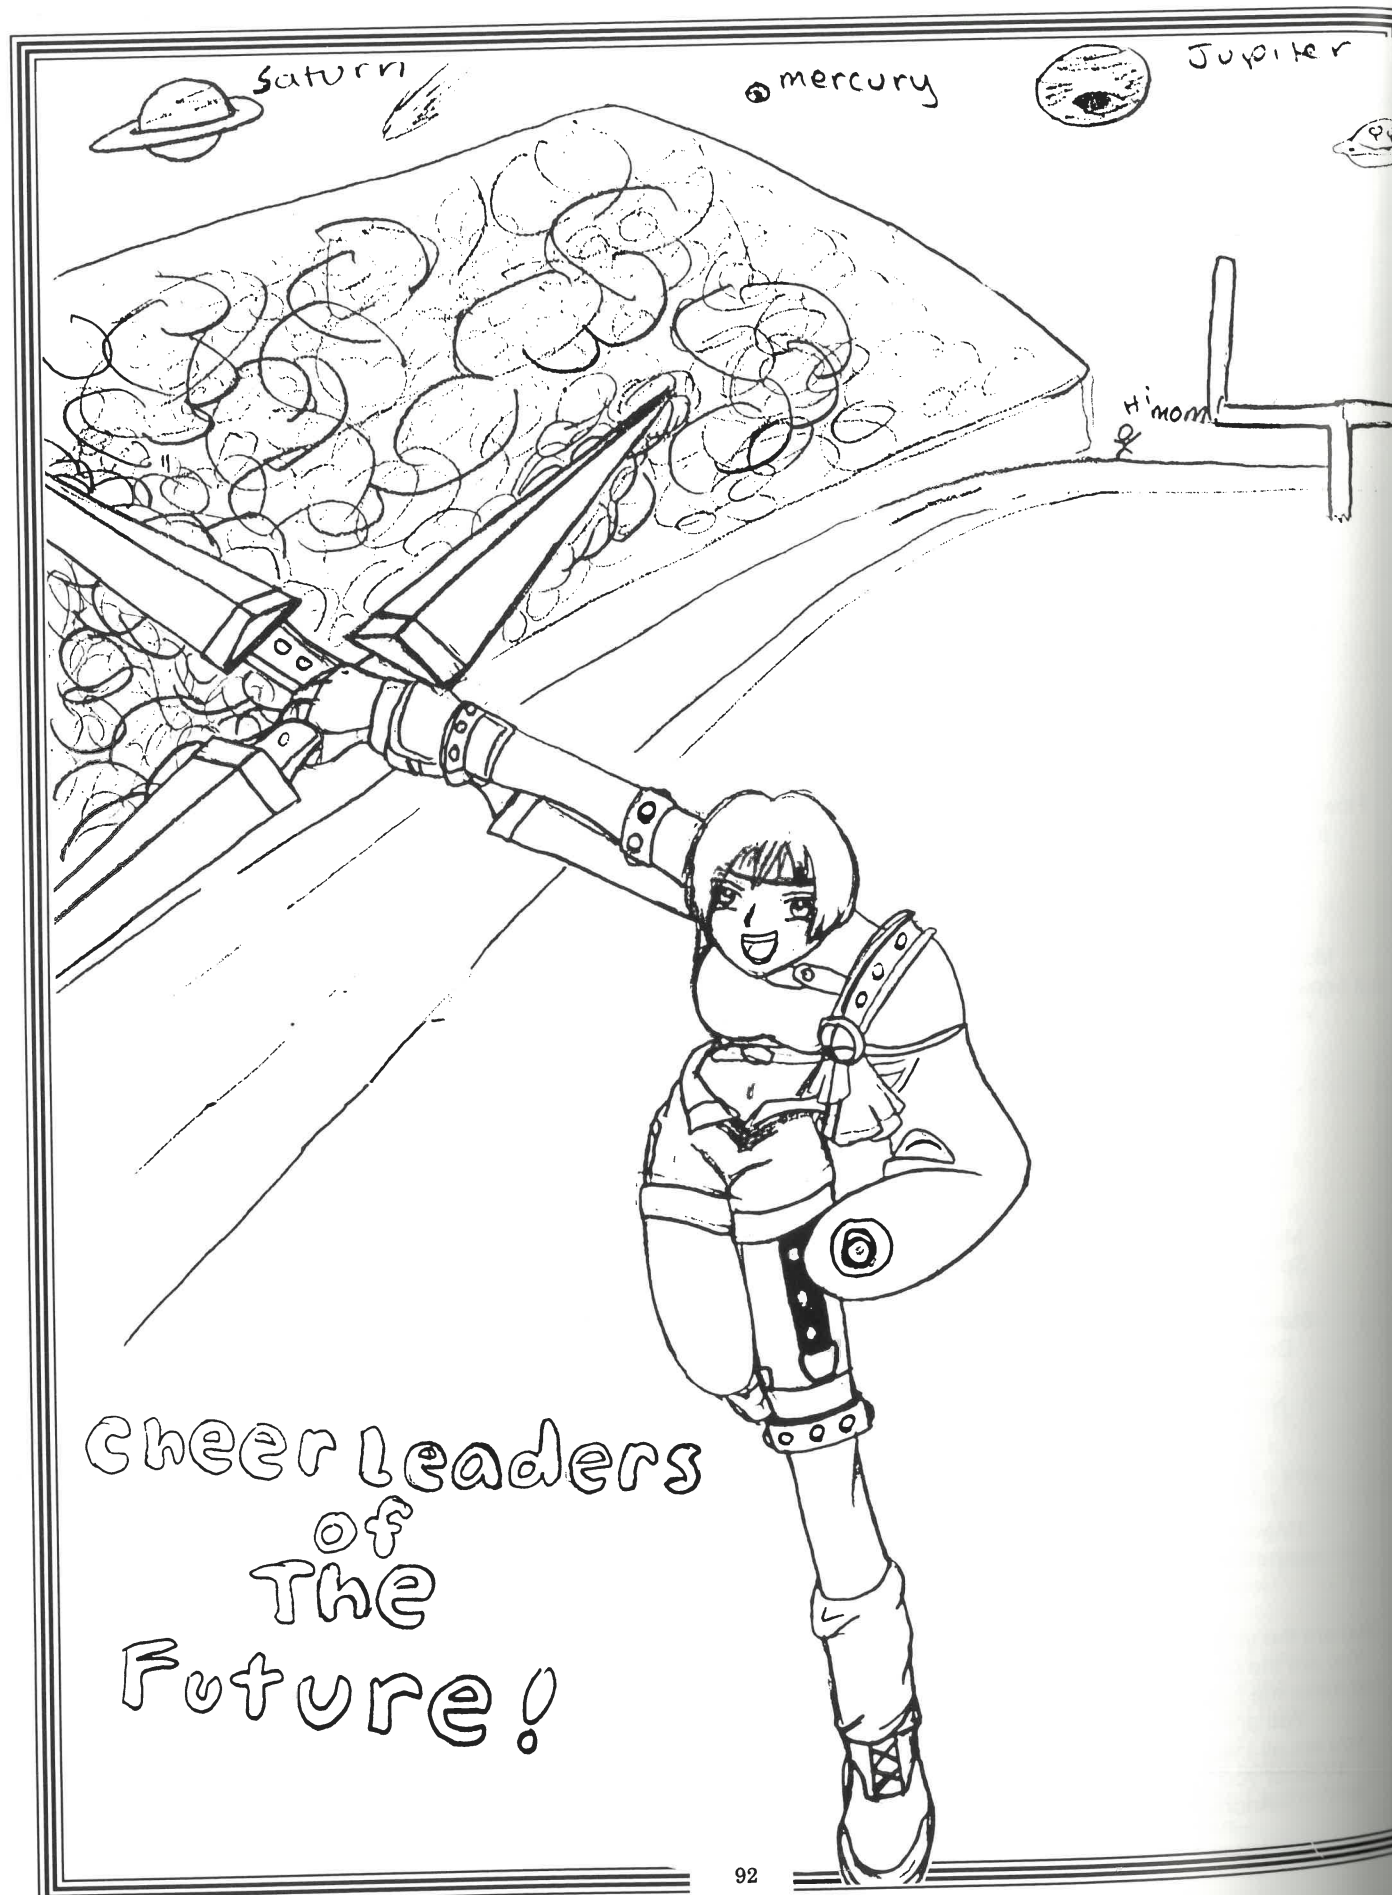

Golden sand beneath my toes,
with crystal waters that join like friends.
A bright gleaming sun,
While I listen around to the crashing waves.
I hear peace like a bird that never stops singing.
All of a sudden smells of every kind,
come over me like a falling pier.
I feel like lying down and dying here,
so my body will become part of this joy.
I have a feeling so deep down,
inside of me if you tried to dig it out,
you would be buried as well.
Look down on my place;
it looks like a mysterious face,
that never stops smiling.

A dry tongue screams up-silence echoes through the land;
night devours all.

Did I Find Myself?

Did I find myself?
I found myself without morals,
where it all began,
looking on a place unknown,
where we all want to be.
Looking for peace,
trying not to see evil,
but isn't everyone an angel?
I stop to think if I found,
my heart and to see if,
I have life, but I still,
find myself without morals.

Smile, Smile, Smile

Today is the day,
when the world ends.
We will feel no pain,
but we will be alone.
So there is nothing
left to do,
but smile, smile, smile.
This has happened before,
to the dinosaurs.
When the comet was coming,
like us, they had nothing
left to do,
but smile, smile, smile.

Sitting, wishing, wondering,

I watch at work,
Calm and natural,
But hating every minute of it.

History-Language Arts Decathlon team

An academic decathlon is a contest between groups of students from different schools that solve real life problems. Students do it to prepare themselves for the future. These groups of students are recommended by teachers. They work together in the school library to solve their problems they are given ahead of time. Then they take their solutions to a contest. The History-Language Arts group went to Holbrook March 18, and the Science-Math group went to White River March 12.

The difference between these two groups of students is the History-Language Arts group solved problems like keeping firearms from underage kids, the environmental impact and ways to recycle. The Science -Math solved problems like building models and other projects.
